Cash for the Casendes Ad.

The readers of The Republic will no doubt remember a "problem advertisement" associating the Cascades at the Purchase Exposition with the well-known proprietary medicine, CASCARETS, and offering a prize of $35 to the person giving the best reason for considering the adver-tisement a good one.

offering a prize of $15 to the person giving the bost reason for considering the advertisement a good one.

The publication of this interesting proposition in this paper insured its wide-spread publicity, and many hundreds of people studied the advertisement, answered it and submitted their opinions in competition. The answers were turned over to a committee of six professional advertising men, who report that although there were many queer replies, it was astonishing to note the general appreciation of the essential qualities of an advertisement. Many srawers were similar and it was difficult to make a selection. By a process of elimination the ten best ones were picked out and each judge made a separate and secret selection of the best of the ten. The unswer of W. C. Unger. No. 512 Cook avenue. St. Louis, received the most votes, and Mr. Unger was therefore declared the winner of the $15 prize. The winning answer was as follows:

"Why is this advertisement a good one?"

"Because the picture is suggestive of the World's Fair and therefore attracts im-"Because the picture is suggestive of the World's Fair and therefore attracts immediate attention.

"Similarity of the names 'Cascades' and 'Cascarets' gives it a humorous tinge and holds attention and excites talk of Cascarets, as well as of the Fair. It is a good advertisement for both.

"The Cascades form one of the crowning beauties of the Fair, and Cascarets are just as valuable an asset to beauty, health and contentment.

"Cascarets are a monument to the medical science of the Twentieth Century, just Because the picture is suggestive of the MINSTREL REVIVAL NOW IN PROSPECT PLAYS TO COME.

It is clearly evident that a burnt-cork jubilee impends. St. Louis looks as if it had been struck by a whole vanguard of circuit men, among whom rivalry had run riet in their determination to plaster the highly-hued lithographs of Lew Dockstader's minstrels over everything that would stader grins at one from the fences, observes one benignly from the upper stories of buildings in the course of demolition, staraes steadfastly from barrels and big pipes, and, in fact, catches the eye from every conceivable point. The minstrel man is coming to the Century Theater with his troupe of merry assistants. Dockstader is now his own director. Carroll Johnson

James H. Decker, Dockstader's forme manager, is organizing a new minstrel company to be headed by George Prim Real old-time minstrelsy is prom ised. Among Mr. Primrose's assistants will be William H. West, Jr., and the famous Foley Twins. The company is to be one of the largest on tour. Blanche Bates will give her first Ibsen matinee at the Imperial November 17. "Hedda Gabler" is to be the bill. Later she will be seen as Madam Butterfly and in the one-act comedy, "My Aunt's Advice." She is to continue in "The Darling of the Gods." The special performances are to take place in the afternoon. Her success in the Belasco drama of old Japan continues. There is a demand for stand-ing room almost every night.

The all-star revival of 'The Two Orphans" will begin at the Century November 30. The first performance of this famous oid play occurred December 21, 1874, in New York, The cast at that time included Charles R. Thorne, McKee Rankin, F. F. Mackey, Stuart Robson, Rose Eytinge and Kate Claxton, The company selected by Mr. Palmer for the revival consists of James O'Neil, Louis James, J. E. Dodson, Jameson Lee Finney, William Beach, Clara Morris, Grace George, Mrs. LeMoyne, Elita Proctor Otis, Surah Truax and Bijou Fernandez. The play will be given as it was thirty years ago. No new stage "business" will be introduced. The scenery, while new, it a duplicate on a larger scale of the original production and has been painted by the same artist. mous old play occurred December 21, 1874.

That red garment is like the waited signal to the eight steeds. Their apathetic demeanor vanishes in an instant, their ears are pricked forward for the word "go," and, as the first rumble of the wheels arises, their hoofs start flying over the treadmills

Viola Allen, who will appear at the Olympic at the close of the "Ben-Hur" engagement, is said to be winning golden opinions for her production of "The Win-ter's Tale." Miss Allen is playing in Phil-adelphia. In "The Winter's Tale" she en-acts the roles of Hermione and Perdita.

The Odeon Theater stock company will inaugurate its season up at the Grand Avenue playhouse December 6. Byron Douglas has been engaged as leading man. Wal-ter Clark Bellows, who has produced many of Henry W. Savage's attractions, is to be the chief stage director.

The Theatrical Woman's Parker Club has been organized for the purpose of inducing actors to return home to vote. Er-minie Earle, prima donna of "The Runa-waya," is the society's secretary.

TICKET APPEALS TO GOOD CITIZENS

David Sommers, a Republican, Tells Why the Other Side Is the Better.

JUDGE ROMBAUER'S OPINION.

Former Republican and Attorney for the School Board Says There Is No Doubt of a Folk Victory.

If there is any good element of the Democratic party in St. Louis which does not intend to support the ticket this fall have failed to come to the front. That Republicans are also coming to the support of the Democratic ticket is shown from the attitude of the thousands who will not support the Republican ticket. David Summers, head of the firm of D. Sommers & Co., and vice president of the Fourth National Bank, is one Republican who maker no secret of his attitude toward the Democratic ticket. "I am a Republican," he said yesterday, "but I propose to vote for the most capable on either ticket, and I consider the ticket put in the field by the Democrats an unusually strong one. The judicial nominations are especially good, and in decided contrast with those made by the Republicans, and will recive the hearty support of many who do not care to see the judiciary drugged through the mire of factional politics.

for the School Board, and one of the foremost members of the bar, formerly a Republican, said that he could see no reason whatever for voters not supporting the Democratic ticket. He said:

JUDGE R. E. ROMBAUER "I have known Joseph W. Folk for about eight years, and had frequent official intercourse with him during that time. I have always found him a thoroughly honorable, fearless and uncompromising man, and while a healthy partisan, one who always subordinates party zeal to the welfere of the people. When elected Governor (since there is no if about it) he will be a Governor of all the people, and not of any section or part thereof. To those who say that in prosecuting public offenders he has done no more than his duty. I reply that he is the only local State prosecutor who has done his full duty in that regard during my connection with the St. Louis har, which extends over a period of forty-six years.

"I have personally known Judge Woodson, the Democratic nomines for the Supreme Court, for a period of twe-ve years or more. He filled the position of Circuit Judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit for many years very satisfactorily to the people of that county and its bar. Some correspondence which I had with him, while myself on the bench, involving complicated legal questions, convinced me that he was a conscientions and industrious
Judge of exceptional ability.

"The records of Judge Reyburn, Judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, and of Judges Sale, Kinealy and Blevins of the Circuit Court are before the people. They are gentlemen of character and learning
and performed their dutles satisfactorily
while on the bench.

"I have personally known Mr. Otto, the candidate for Circuit Attorney, for a period of fifteen years or more. I can youch for his integrity, capacity and fearlessness, and can pay him no higher compliment than by saying that I believe that if elected he will be a worthy successor to Mr. Folk.

"Thave confined my statement to those of the nominees with whom I came in contact in a profess'onal capacity, because I am better qualified to speak of them than of others, most of whom I know by hearsay only. I may add, however, that I know of no reason why any independent voter should withhold his support from the bulk of the Democratic candidates, always exercising that discrimination, which in my opinion have always found him a thoroughly honorable, fearless and uncompromising man, and other St. Louisans, and was so engaged when she received, last summer, an offer from "A Girl From Dixle" company and joined it in New York. She assumed Her success was instantaneous and her friends have followed with pride the favorable comments of critics in cities where the company has appeared this full. JUDGE H. W. BOND. Judge Henry W. Bond, formerly on the Court of Appeals bench, said: "The most important matter for the consideration of the community is the character and standing of the Judges of its courts. All the vast property interest of the people, as well as other personal rights and privileges, are primarily regu-lated by the decisions of the Judges of the courts of general jurisdiction. Hence, the lated by the decisions of the Judges of the courts of general jurisdiction. Hence, the necessity of filling these positions with experienced, learned and upright men, whose standards of conduct are a guarantee of impartiality, and whose knowledge of the science of the law fits and qualifies them to become its expositors. I think the Democratic City Convention should be congratulated upon its effort to realize these ideals.

"The work of the convention, taken as a whole, meets my imqualified approval. Doubtless many Republicans will feel justified in discriminating against some of the nomlnees on their ticket and substituting in their stead other names presented by the Democratic ticket, and that they are only acting from an enlightened sense of duty in so doing. Of course, there can never be a real or lasting reform in public service without a careful selection on the part of the voters of resolute, capable and honest officials, men who will serve the public with an eye single to its good, and who are not hankering after public positions for personal ends."

TO CHANGE ORDER IN MERGER SUIT

Allotment of Transit Company Securities Is to Stand as Originally Made.

Circuit Judge Fisher said yesterday that to-day he would enter an order in the suit of Louis A. Cella, S. W. Adler and A. Tilles vs. St. Louis Transit Company stockholders, to prevent the handling by the syndicate of the $7,000,000 of Transit Company securities; that, upon the pay-National Bank of Commerce of St. Louis of $374,774.40, an order would issue, restraining Brown Bros. & Co. of New York and others from allotting the Transit Company securities which had been allotted to the plaintiffs to anyone else; and from disposing of the securities enumer ated in the allotment. The order, Judge Fisher said, would supersede the previous order in the case. which cited the defendants to show cause on November II why an injunction should not be issued, a restraining order to prevail in the meantime.

The announcement was made at the conclusion of the arguments in chambers on the motion of the defendants to have the original order modified.

Former Judge H. S. Priest represented Brown Bros. & Co. and others, and former Judge H. W. Bond appeared for Cella, Adler and Tilles.

Cella, Adler and Tilles.

The Nat'onal Hank of Commerce, agent for Brown Bros. & Co., the syndicate managers, and the Transit and United Rai-ways companies, are defendants with Brown, Bros. & Co. in the suit, which grew out of the reorganization of the Transit Company, by which it became merged into the Enited Railways Company.

merged into the Enited Railways Company.

Cella, Adler and Tilles claim that the proposition for the Transit Company's stockholders to contribute 57,00,000 for the payment of its deless did not involve the holding of securities said to have been given them for their subscriptions in a pool, as is claimed by the defendants, but that the securities should be turned over to the contributing stockholders. The 271, 74.40 is 34 per cent of the amount which Cella, Adler and Tilles were to contribute.
